

COURSE CONTENT OVERVIEW

Drug and Alcohol Awareness

This drug and alcohol awareness online training course aims to teach learners about the effects that drug and alcohol abuse can have on an individual, a team, and an organisation.

This course will benefit those who need to effectively manage substance abuse. Organisations have a duty of care; to fulfil this duty they should be able to recognise when substance abuse increases the likelihood of risks and affects health, safety, and well-being.

Learners will become aware of the effects of substance misuse, the size and scale of the problem in the UK, and a series of strategies to fairly manage cases of substance misuse.

Module One: Introduction

This module details the legal responsibilities of cleaners and helps learners to understand the significance of a cleaning schedule, including how to write one and which information is included.

- Substance abuse
- High-risk occupations
- Substance misuse in the UK

Module Two: Organisational Policies

This module teaches learners how to appropriately and effectively respond to unique cases of substance misuse. This module involves examples to show how strategies for managing substance abuse are dependent upon the context. Learners will come away confident in their ability to spot substance misuse and take steps to support those with a misuse problem. The topics covered are:
